

Recognizing Negative Emotions

When I am sad, I might feel like crying.

When I am scared, I might want to hide.

When I am worried, I might think something bad will happen.

When I am angry, I might want to yell, hurt people, or break things.

I should practice telling people how I feel.

I should practice staying calm when I feel sad, scared, or angry.

