

Going to a Restaurant

Going out to eat at a restaurant can be fun! I can spend time with my family and enjoy the food.

Every restaurant is different. Sometimes they can be loud, quiet, crowded, or have fewer people. Some can have bright lights, or they can be darker.

When I get to the restaurant, I may be seated at a table right away, or I may have to wait in a line or in a lobby.

When my table is ready, the waiter will lead me there. I may be seated at a table or a booth.

I will look at the menu to decide what I want to eat and drink.

The waiter will take our orders. Each person at the table takes a turn. I know it is my turn when the waiter looks at me and asks me what I want.

@ASERTPAautism

@asert_paautism

@ASERT_PAautism

@asert

Going to a Restaurant

I can bring something with me to do while I wait for my food to arrive. I should not bring anything that makes too much noise, so it does not bother other people.

When the food arrives, the waiter will place my food in front of me on the table.

I will only eat my food and not anyone else's food at the table.

When I am done eating, I will wait for everyone else to finish eating.

When everyone is done eating, the waiter will bring a bill. Someone at the table will pay for the food with cash or a credit/debit card.

After the bill is paid, I can leave the restaurant.

