

An Electrocardiogram (EKG) Test

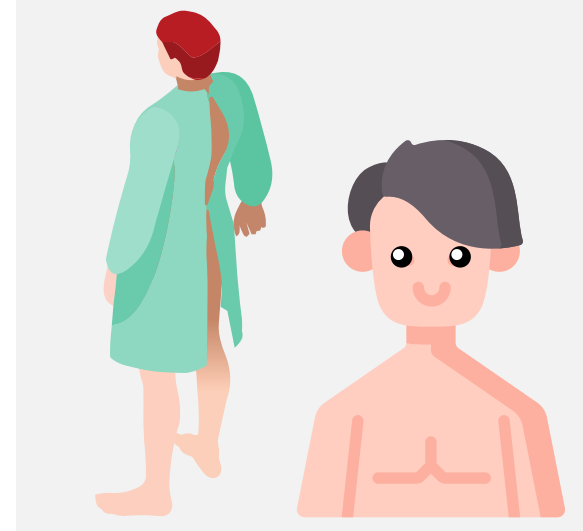

I will check in at the desk when I arrive at the doctor's office or lab.

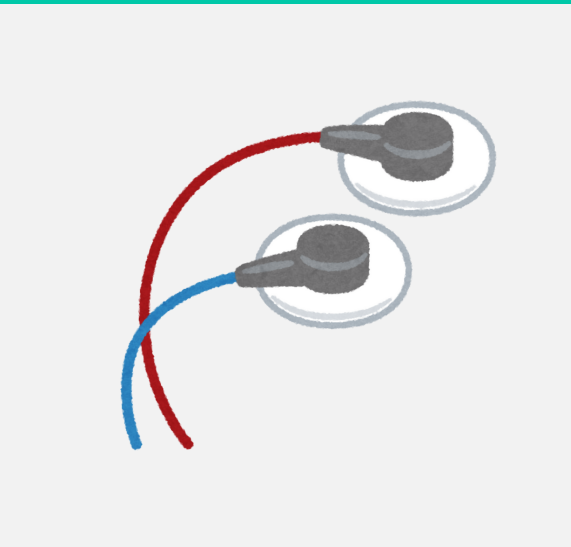

A nurse will bring me to a new room.

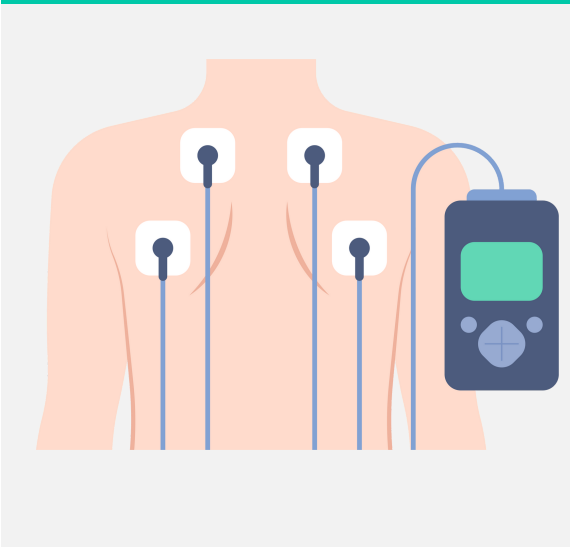

I may need to take off my shirt or wear a gown. The nurse will leave the room.

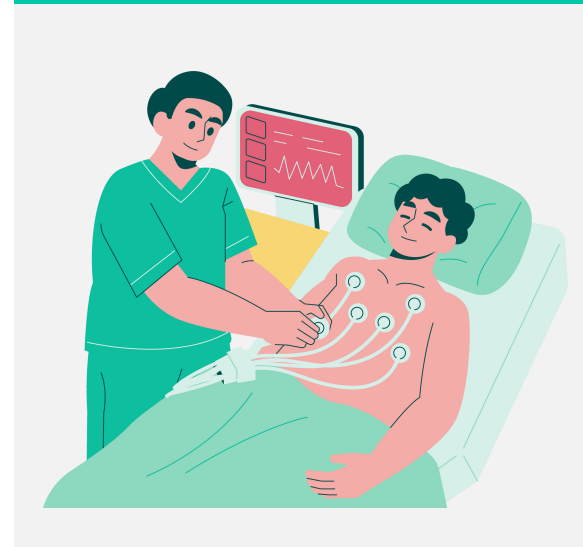

They will place stickers on me. These feel sticky but do not hurt.

These stickers will connect to wires.

After they are connected, I will be asked to lie still and relax.

An Electrocardiogram (EKG) Test

I can bring my favorite things with me, like a stuffed animal. I can also ask for a break if I need it.

Can we take a break?

The machine will check my heart while I stay quiet and calm.

When the EKG is done, the nurse will gently take the stickers off. Then I can put my clothes back on.
