

SIGNS OF AUTISM:

A GUIDE FOR JUSTICE SYSTEM PROFESSIONALS

REPETITIVE BEHAVIORS

- Flapping, flicking, spinning, rocking
- Focuses on one topic/detail that is unrelated to the conversation
- Scripting or repeating sounds
  - (e.g. repeat lines of a television show or movie)

INDIVIDUAL HISTORY

- Reported history of other developmental delays/diagnoses
- History/current substance use/abuse
  - due to social desirability, self-medicating
- Other concerns about individual's development
- Does not display age-appropriate knowledge of sex and sexual boundaries

MENTAL PROCESSES

- Displays poor impulse control
  - (e.g. constantly touching an object despite being told/given consequences)
- Processing delay/Unable to follow a chain of commands
  - (e.g. put your coat on the chair, sit down, and put your phone on the table)

SOCIAL COMMUNICATION

- Flat vocal affect
  - (e.g. voice stays at one tone with little to no inflection)
- Unusual facial grimaces
- Avoidance of eye contact or blank stare throughout conversation
- Individual has no friends or is socially isolated
- May appear stubborn, defiant, or non-compliant with requests
- Atypical or stiff body language flat facial expressions.
- Overly literal interpretation of questions
- Increased aggravation/anxiety during interview
- Overly agreeable
- Appears to have a lack of sympathy or empathy

SENSORY BEHAVIORS

- May be sensitive to touch
  - especially if unexpected
- Overwhelmed by sensory environment
  - (e.g. covers ears, eyes, nose)

KEY SIGNS

Lack of Eye Contact

Scripting Words, Phrases, Noises

May Appear Stubborn/Resistant

Sensitive to Touch

Flapping, Flicking, Spinning

Processing Delays

Have a question about autism? Contact the ASERT Resource Center at 877-231-4244