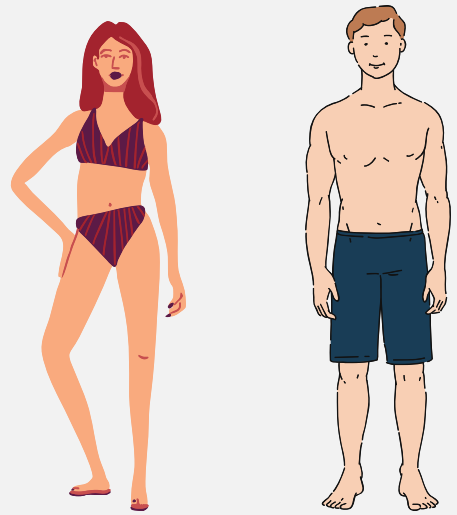
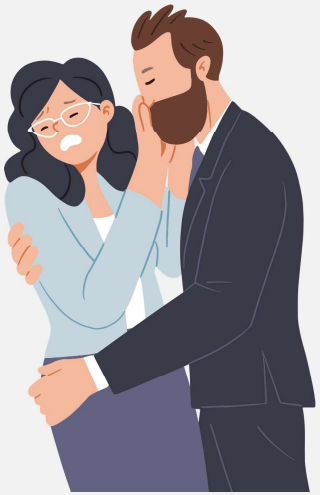
Part 1: Telling About Sexual Abuse (Adult)

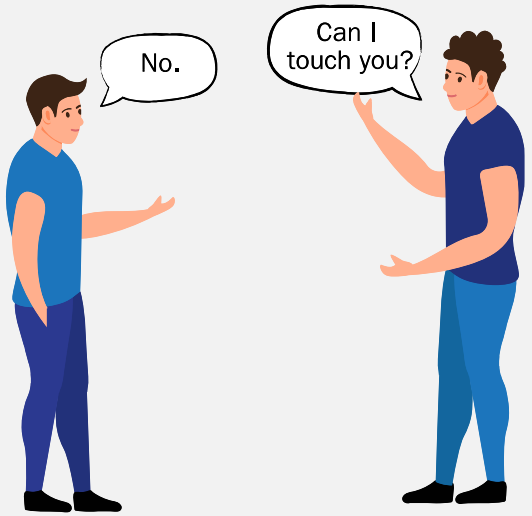
My private parts are the parts of my body that I cover with a bathing suit.



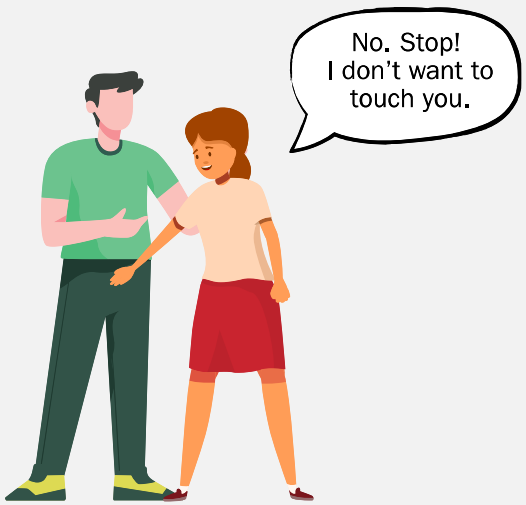
Sexual abuse can be when someone makes me do something sexual that I don't want to do.



If someone asks to see or touch my private parts and I don't want to, I should tell the person to stop.



I should tell them to stop if someone makes me touch their private parts and I don't want to.



When people do these things, they may tell me that what happened is a secret.

I should not keep it a secret. I should tell an adult or friend that I trust.

Be Safe
Ask. Listen. Respect.

ASERT
Bringing autism resources together.

Pennsylvania's leading source of autism-related resources and information
877-231-4244

The ASERT Collaborative is funded by the Office of Developmental Programs, PA Department of Human Services