Secrets - When Should I Tell?

Sometimes people may tell me I'm not supposed to talk about something that happened.

It is okay to keep a secret about presents or surprises.

These secrets are okay because no one gets hurt.

If somebody might feel hurt or uncomfortable, I should not keep it a secret.

If someone tries to look at my private parts or asks me to look at their private parts, I should not keep it a secret.

Even if somebody tells me not to tell the secret, I should remember that keeping people safe is more important.

Be Safe
Ask. Listen. Respect.

ASERT
Bringing autism resources together.

Pennsylvania's leading source of autism-related resources and information
877-231-4244

The ASERT Collaborative is funded by the Office of Developmental Programs, PA Department of Human Services