Relationships, Part One: What is a Relationship?

Relationships can be put in 5 groups: Family, Friends, Acquaintances, Romantic and Strangers.

Not everyone has all of these relationships, but all relationships can be put into these groups.

These 5 groups describe the different types of relationships you may have in your life.

There are many people in the world.

Some people may be new to you, and others you may know well.

‘Relationship’ is used to describe how different people know each other.

The Autism Services, Education, Resources and Training (ASERT) Collaborative is a statewide initiative funded by the Bureau of Autism Services, PA Department of Human Services.

This campaign promotes the idea of body autonomy for individuals with disabilities. ASERT has partnered with researchers at the National Crime Victims Research and Treatment Center at the Medical University of South Carolina to develop resources for the Be Safe campaign.