Assistive Technology (AT) are the devices and/or equipment used by individuals with disabilities to improve their lives in education, employment, community recreation, and daily living activities. Paying for AT can be expensive, challenging, and overwhelming. We have invited Wendy Davis, Jim Lilley, Bekah Nesbitt, and Mary Evrard to come and share their experiences and expertise about assistive technology and the funding sources available for these wonderful devices.

Join us for this FREE VIRTUAL workshop, 6:00 pm - 7:30 pm. There will be time for questions and answers from our four experts attending and presenting. We hope to see you there!
